Dear Supplier:

OGE Energy Corp and its subsidiaries value the good business relationships we have with our suppliers and appreciate the significant role they play in our success. We believe our suppliers, like us, value business that is conducted in an honest, fair and trustworthy manner.

To avoid any situations that could create a misunderstanding or potentially damage our business relationship, we would like to share the OGE Code of Ethics with you.

At OGE, we award business based on considerations such as service, competitive pricing, contract performance, quality of material, and environmental, health and safety performance. Gifts, excessive entertainment and special favors are not, and will not become, part of doing business with OGE.

We expect our employees to avoid gifts, entertainment or other favors from individuals or firms, which could create, or appear to create, an obligation to an individual or organization. It is unacceptable and violates our Code of Ethics for anyone at OGE to offer or receive a bribe, kickback, or other improper payment.

We recognize there may be a legitimate business purpose associated with gifts or entertainment extended to our employees, or from us to our suppliers. However, if you as a supplier ever feel pressured to buy a gift or provide some financial benefit to an OGE employee as a condition of continuing business, we need you to report that situation to us immediately.

If you are solicited by one of our employees or any party representing OGE in a manner that you believe violates the Code of Ethics, you should report it to OGE's mPOWERLINE (an ethics hotline managed by a third party, external organization) at 1-877-835-5643 or online at www.ethicspoint.com, or to our Director Audits, David Parker, at 405-553-3025 or parkerda@oge.com. All such communications, whether related to prior, current or future matters, will be handled with confidentiality and discretion.

At OGE Energy Corp., ethical business practices are the foundation for successful business relationships, and we thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Sean Trauschke
