

OGE Energy Corp.

Sean Trauschke
Chairman, President & CEO
OGE Energy Corp.

---

November 16, 2020

Dear Supplier:

OGE Energy Corp and its subsidiaries value the good business relationships we have with our suppliers and appreciate the significant role they play in our success. We believe our suppliers, like us, value business that is conducted in an honest, fair and trustworthy manner.

To avoid any situations that could create a misunderstanding or potentially damage our business relationship, we would like to share the OGE Code of Ethics with you.

At OGE, we award business based on considerations such as service, competitive pricing, contract performance, quality of material, and environmental, health and safety performance. Gifts, excessive entertainment and special favors are not, and will not become, part of doing business with OGE.

We expect our members to avoid gifts, entertainment or other favors from individuals or firms, which could create, or appear to create, an obligation to an individual or organization. It is unacceptable and violates our Code of Ethics for anyone at OGE to offer or receive a bribe, kickback, or other improper payment.

We recognize there may be a legitimate business purpose associated with gifts or entertainment extended to our members, or from us to our suppliers.

If you are solicited by one of our members or any party representing OGE in a manner that you believe violates the Code of Ethics, you should report it to OGE's mPOWERLINE. The mPOWERLINE is managed by a third party that facilitates anonymous reporting of ethics concerns when desired by calling 1-877-835-5643 or reporting online here. You may also report concerns directly to OGE's Director Enterprise Security & Risk, David Parker, at 405-553-3025 or parkerda@oge.com. All such communications, whether related to prior, current or future matters, will be handled with confidentiality and discretion.

At OGE Energy Corp., ethical business practices are the foundation for successful business relationships, and we thank you for your cooperation.

During these unusual COVID times, OG&E remains focused on the health and well-being of its members, suppliers, and customers and is taking precautionary steps to help minimize the spread of COVID-19. OG&E expects all its suppliers and contractors to assist in this process by taking all necessary precautions to help reduce any potential exposure to the COVID-19 virus. Until further notice, OG&E offices are closed to visitors and some non-critical operations personnel may be working remotely.

Sincerely,

Sean Trauschke
Chairman, President & CEO
OGE Energy Corp.